NOTE.

THE collection of books on China now in the library of the Essex Institute was made by a member of the Institute with the view of confining it to works in the English language descriptive of the Chinese empire and its people. Although it has outgrown its original scope it is far from being complete in any branch, and is to be considered as a nucleus for a more extensive library on the subject of China and the Chinese. The publication of this catalogue was undertaken largely with the hope that it might encourage the addition by gift of such books as are needed to make the collection more complete and useful. This catalogue has been prepared under the direction of the librarian of the Salem Public Library and on presentation of a request card from him, the Essex Institute will allow patrons of the Public Library to consult these books.

For the transliteration and translation of titles under the heading "Books in Chinese" the compiler is indebted to Prof. Edward S. Morse and Mr. Bunkio Matsuki.

The Bulletin of the Salem Public Library for August, 1895 contains a list of the books on China, Korea and Japan which are found on the shelves of that library.
